

General Practice Improvement Leads programme 2021/2022 - virtual

The General Practice Improvement Leads programme is an accredited personal development programme for those working in general practice, including GPs, practice managers, nurses, reception managers and senior administrators. Participants gain new perspectives, skills and confidence in using quality improvement tools and techniques (improvement science) for service redesign and leading colleagues and teams through change.

The programme is six days (three x two-day modules) with support sessions and an optional coaching call in between modules, all held virtually. The programme incorporates interactive elements, action learning and personal project work, with participants leading a small-scale change improvement challenge in their own practice.

Participants must commit to attend all modules in the cohort and work actively on their improvement challenge, a specific problem or issue (normally a process or system) within the practice that the participant is ready and able to address. For example, improving document workflow, optimising the triage process, increasing the uptake of online consultations. The improvement challenge must be given at the application stage.

Participants will provide updates on their progress throughout, including final summary of progress to date and learning at the final module.
